Bewildered Parent!!

You ARE bewildered
ALSO VERY inconsistent!
So you make public a letter
you intend ONLY as a matter for the Mayor and Councillors of the Village? Would it not have been more reasonable to expect you to properly sign and seal your letter and send it direct through the mail when it would receive only the attention of those whom you intended it for? I answered your letter not AS or FOR the Mayor and Councillors, but because I felt there is no need for any child of Chinook to be without sufficient milk.

Of course I MAY be wrong,
but on reading the newspapers it appears to me to be ANY persons privilege to answer an "Open Letter" printed for the public to read, no matter to whom it may be addressed.

However, if this brought continues there soon may be more of us joining in the chorus "What has happened to the Village Common?", but I think it it will be a matter beyond the powers of the Village Council to cope with.

DOUBLE AUTOMATIC BOOKLET

Each For All

IN HIS MESSAGE TO THE MEN of the First Canadian Army on V-E Day, General Crerar said in part: "Each for all" has been the guiding principle of the Canadian army in battle. That same principle is the essential one to which we must adhere if we are to assure the life and growth of democratic government in the world—that community system which has been so eloquently described by Abraham Lincoln as "government of the people, by the people, for the people." "Soldiers of Canada have worked to it in war. Citizens of Canada can do no less in peace." Although this message was directed to the troops, all Canadians would do well to consider the thoughts expressed there, and to reflect on how the application of that guiding principle, "each for all" might be used to bring about peacetime achievements comparable to those made by our men who fought so splendidly in Europe.

A New Chapter In Our History

When members of the armed forces return to civilian life, and our war industries are converted to peacetime production, we shall be commencing a new chapter in the history of this country. Many young men and women, coming out of the services will be entering business or professional life for the first time, and they will also, for the first time, assume the responsibilities of citizenship under peacetime conditions. Others, who were established in their work before the war, will return with a new outlook on many problems. The magnificent record of the Canadians on the fighting fronts has demonstrated their capacity for accomplishing great things. At home, our resources have been organized to give support to the armed forces, and there have been outstanding achievements in connection with production, scientific developments and many other matters. In all this they have worked to preserve our own freedom, and that of the other Allied countries. We must realize that the same energy, interest and co-operation will be needed if our future is to be secure.

People Should Use Franchise

The principle "each for all" has many applications to the conduct of affairs in time of peace. In a democracy the government reflects the will of the people. In Canada, there is every opportunity for the people to elect the government they prefer, and through that government, to determine the domestic and foreign policy. Statistics show, however, that on too many occasions large numbers of the people fail to register their votes in municipal, provincial and federal elections. If there is to be true democracy here, and if each citizen is to assume his or her full responsibility, we must begin by taking a deep interest in public affairs and by exercising our franchise at every opportunity. There are other domestic problems, including public health, education and unemployment which could profitably be approached from this point of view of "each for all". It has its application also, to racial and religious tolerance both at home and abroad. Great possibilities lie ahead, but the responsibility for developing them lies with the people.

SMILE AWHILE

Sign in the window of a West Coast beauty salon: "Don't whistle at the girls when they leave this Salon. One of them may be your grandmother."

"What did the calf say to the silo?"

"I don't know."

"Is my fodder in there?"

Jones: "Heaven bless him! He showed confidence in me when the clouds were dark and threatening."

Robinson: "In what way?"

"He lent me an umbrella."

Professor: "What is the most potent poison?"

Student: "An airplane; one drop and you're dead."

June: "Who was that man I saw kissing you in the hotel foyer?"

Julie: "I couldn't just place him at the time, but he seemed to know me pretty well."

Murphy: "Can you get any distance on your wireless?"

Jones: "Well I've had complaints from people living three streets away."

"Your vacation doesn't seem to bother you."

"No, my boss tells me when and my wife where."

Mr. Faraway: "I was going to call you up last evening, but I forgot your telephone number."

Mr. Letherbink: "I is 742. You can remember it easily by associating it with the year of Charlie-magne's birth."

Dodd: "I notice that in telling about that fish you caught you vary the size for different listeners."

Edda: "Yes, I never tell a man more than I think he'll believe."

A girl, filling out a form before going to college, came to the question: "What is your denominational preference?"

She wrote: "I like to be called Betty."

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Has the restriction been removed on trucks which limited trucks to a travelling distance of 35 miles from their home address?

A.—The 35-mile limit on the operation of trucks has been removed. Restrictions also have been removed on wholesalers and retail dealers, pickups and deliveries by laundries and dry cleaners, and the use of vehicles by theatres for advertising purposes. Each retailer may now establish his own value limitation on deliveries.

Q.—Has rim fire ammunition been removed from the rationing controls?

A.—Rim fire ammunition may now be purchased without a permit from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The rim fire ammunition consists almost entirely of 22 calibre cartridges, though small quantities of 25 and 30 calibre rim fire ammunition are produced and these are also removed from the ration list.

Q.—What is the coupon value for maple syrup?

A.—Until May 31st each preserves coupons was good for 40 fluid ounces of maple syrup. Starting June 1st coupon value for maple syrup returns to its former value of 24 fluid ounces.

Q.—May civilians now purchase air force and naval officers' shirts?

A.—Yes, civilians may now purchase shirts which were previously sold only to officers of the armed services.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Dame Of Sark

Peasants Carried On Under Five Years Of German Occupation

The tiny island of Sark and its population of 360 peasants remained, during five years of German occupation, under the benevolent feudal rule of the 60-year-old Dame of Sark.

Liberated British forces expected to find that the garrison of some 300 Germans, led by an ardent Nazi captain, had ravaged the island. Instead, they learned that the sharp-witted Dame of Sark had kept her charges almost completely free of interference by the Germans.

The Dame, who is "Madame" to the reverent islanders, operates her island efficiently and democratically under the old English feudal system. Her grant to the island dates back to the time of Queen Elizabeth, who gave it to a Jersey man, Helier De Carteret.

Weather Causes

Has Now Become A Science, So That We Can Predict Changes

By understanding the causes of weather and its actions we have learned to adjust ourselves to its moods. Now we can predict what will happen and when it will come. Frost, rain, wind and flood are foreseen and the necessary defenses made. The orange-grower is warned of frost, and he makes ready his smudge pots to blanket the groves with smoke. Airplanes are despatched only when weather is favorable along the route. We have always lived with the weather with us, but now it is a science and meteorology has become big business.—Calgary Herald.

Report Gratifying

Germans Respected Cemeteries And Memorials In France And Belgium

Sir Fabian Ware and his colleagues of the Imperial War Graves Commission are able to give a gratifying account of the state of its cemeteries and memorials in France and Belgium after the German occupation. They were respected by the enemy and, thanks also to the care of the French and Belgian authorities, can soon be restored. Our cemetery at Cologne is also found to be in good condition. All this greatly lightens the work of repair and will hasten the work of making new cemeteries for the dead of this war, the commission's latest charge. It is a melancholy task performed with reverence and attention to architectural and horticultural beauty, and some of our best architects contribute to making these memorials worthy of our fallen. Happily the commission has not been startled of late; the governments of the commonwealth have contributed in proportion and there is no fear that the memorials will fall into neglect.—Manchester Guardian.

MEET A CWAC—

"Someone has to stay at home, I guess," says Pte. Emma Airless, Togo, Sask. Emma, one of a family of six service members, all of them in khaki, is the only one still in Canada. One of her brothers was taken prisoner at Hong Kong, three others served on the Western Front as did also her sister, Alice, one of a company of CWACs in Belgium. Emma is extremely proud of her brothers and sisters. Of course she'd like to be over there with them, but as long as she can't be, she is determined to do a bang-up job of "carrying-on" in Canada. Emma enlisted in the W.A.C. in December, 1942. She received her basic training at Vermilion, a clerk's course in Edmonton and since that time has been posted in Regina. Very fond of sports, sports, her chief hobby, however, is fancy work. Reading, music and nature study come high on her list of "things I like to study and do".

PROMOTED—

Pte. Joyce Hilda Wick, Kerrobert, Sask., has recently been promoted to the rank of Corporal. She is stationed at Camp Borden, Ont., where she is now stationed. L-Cpl. Wick enlisted at Winnipeg in February, 1943. Following her basic training at Vermilion, Alta., she was posted to Camp Borden as a storewoman where she has been employed since.

GRADUATE—

Several Western girls were included in the latest clerks' course graduating class at No. 3 CWAC (B) T.C., at Kitchener, Ont. Among them were Ptes. E. A. Jones, Moosehead, Sask.; M. Bilokrett, Theodore, Sask.; G. E. Brady, McCreary, Man.; J. T. Czech, Raymond, Alta.; E. A. Bowerman, Regina; C. E. Edwards, Taber, Alta.; M. E. Griffiths, Calgary; D. J. Harvey, Yorkton, Sask.; N. E. Johns, Yorkton, Sask.; A. E. Low, Riverhurst, Man.; A. E. Poole, Cheyette, Sask.; S. M. Hunt, Vancouver; J. Kirschman, Edmonton; and M. F. McBeth, Calgary.

YOU NEVER KNOW—

Cpl. Evelyn Watson, Belleville, Ont., started out to study cooking. She ended up in front of a camera. It all started when an Army photographer attended the cooking class to take some pictures for publicity purposes. When the negatives were developed one of the students was spotted as being a decidedly photogenic type. The "type" was identified as Corporal Watson and she was promptly enlisted on the list of CWAC models, on call for special publicity purposes. Her first assignment was to pose for a colour photo to be reproduced as the cover of a popular magazine. A former switchboard operator, Cpl. Watson enlisted in May, 1943. On completion of basic training at Kitchener, Ont., she attended the army stenographic course at Ottawa and Toronto. She is now employed as a clerk typist at the Dir. of Registration, N.D.H.Q.

SHELL SAY IT EVERYTIME—CWAC Question Mark: Are you signing up for the Pacific war? Penelope CWAC: Yes, but I expect to fight it in Saskatchewan, same as I did the European.

Record Hog Output

Major Increases Shown In Two Western Provinces

Of the record quantity of meat produced in Canada in 1944, Swift Canadian Co. Limited handled 16.2 per cent., J. H. Tapley, President, states in the company's annual report to employees just issued.

In 1944, Canadian pork production reached an all-time peak. Mr. Tapley pointed out. Total hog marketings across Canada jumped from 3,705,000 in 1939 to 8,863,000 in 1944, a rise of 142 per cent.

"Based on data published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the Dominion Department of Agriculture, of total slaughtering of cattle, calves, hogs, sheep and lambs during the year 1944," said Mr. Tapley, "Swift Canadian Co. Limited, processed 16.2 per cent. of the total number of head of livestock slaughtered in Canada, or on the basis total pounds of meat produced last year our company handled 16.2 per cent."

Mr. Tapley also announced that a total of $2,600 in cash awards was received by 303 employees who had made acceptable suggestions under the Employees' Suggestion Plan. He noted that 1,222 employees had gone into the armed services and recalled with regret that 34 of these had either been killed in action or died in service, five were missing in action and eight were prisoners of war.

"Our ability to meet the heavy wartime demand for food, and our achievement in handling record quantities at a time when many of our experienced employees are in the armed forces," said Mr. Tapley, "is a tribute to the efforts of all who remained behind at their jobs."

Bomb Campaign

Seven Thousand Guns Operated On Britain's East Coast

Seven thousand guns were arrayed on Britain's east coast when the second flying bomb campaign began in September, 1944, it was revealed. An official announcement said that the Germans launched 1,600 buzz bombs between Sept. 5 and the end of March, 1945. Anti-aircraft gunners knocked down 407 and the R.A.F. claimed another 76. The Royal Navy was credited with 15 flying bombs.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Jealous Husband

— By —
MARCIA DAUGHTERY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Tommy Anders going to the dinner tonight?"

Iris stared unhappily at her husband's grim profile as he let in the clutch and the sedan shot ahead. "I don't know."

"Lewis Alerd?"

"Oh, Gregg, what difference does it make? No matter who the extra man is, you'll be jealous of him. Sometimes I think you'd suspect me of making eyes at the Hunchback of Notre Dame."

Gregg parked and slid from under the wheel leaving the motor running. "Going to get some cigarettes and leave you to dream about . . ." his smile was tight-lipped, " . . . whoever the guy is. And if I ever catch you with him, I'll blow his head off."

Relaxing with a sigh against the seat back Iris thought, Gregg is getting psychopathic. I wonder how much longer I can stand this jealousy business.

She closed her eyes when she heard his brisk step on the street, and remained passively as they charged down the highway, turned the corner on winning tires and shot westward. "There's no sense in driving so fast," she complained.

"Keep your trap shut," ordered a strange voice.

Iris sat up as her heart leaped into the top of her throat. The car at the wheel was young—not over 25—and there were hungry hollows beneath his cheek bones. A pulse was beating in his right temple; his skin was saffron to the beard line, and below that the darkness of stubble turned cheeks and chin a muddy gray.

"What are you going to do with me?" Iris asked.

"I'm going to take you out the Speedway and dump you. You can walk back."

The Speedway traversed the worst alkali section in the state. There wouldn't be a farmhouse for miles. Iris could feel every individual hair on her head as if she were a cushion sprouting pins.

Then her kidnapper made a most astonishing statement. "I'm sorry to scare you, ma'am, but I had to have this car."

She couldn't speak.

"Had soup day before yesterday," he jerked, "a dish of wormy cereal the day before. I've a wife and kid, and they gotta eat. Not eligible for reject because I own half interest in a gas shovel."

Iris turned in the seat as the man stopped. "Listen, when I get to a telephone I'll have to notify the police. You'll be stopped within two or three hours. But if you want to make an honest living, I know a way."

Something about the eloquent look of his eyes reminded Iris of a beaten dog that hears a friendly voice. "You wouldn't be pulling a fast one?" he gasped.

"No. This is sincere. My husband, who is chairman of the grounds committee at the country club, said they should get somebody to drain the lake and reclaim all the lead shot that has accumulated in the sludge. The shot is worth sixty-five dollars a ton, and after all these years of clay pigeon shooting there ought to be a great deal. Gregg heard about a club in the east that did it, and was bowled over by the profits. The club would want twenty per cent. of the income. But you have a shovel, and it seems to me . . ."

Her companion's lower lip hung lax. "Maybe it's a trap," he grunted, "but I'm game to find out. If it's O.K. with you, I'd like to talk to your husband tonight."

To prove his belief in her the man added, "You drive back to town. Stepping into the road, he circled the car and got in on the other side. "See, I gave you a chance to leave me if you were just fast-talking yourself out of a tough spot," he explained.

As they headed cityward, Iris recalled Gregg's final statement: "If I ever catch you with him, I'll blow his head off."

If Gregg saw her with this stranger he would shoot first and ask questions afterwards. "Try to believe in me, as I've already proved my belief in you," she began. Swiftly she explained her fear.

The man scrutinized her. "Is your old man right? Have you been cheating? No use lying to me, you know."

Iris' eyes met his. "No," she said, "there's never been any man for me but Gregg. I don't think there ever will be, because I happen to adore the big, lumbering, suspicious lug."

"That's good enough for me," said her companion. "You give me your husband's name, address and I'll show up at his office tomorrow morning. That will give you time to explain things to him, and if he's half as well as you are, I'm the luckiest sucker on earth."

"His cards are in that side compartment."

He slipped one into his pocket. "You can let me out at the next corner, ma'am. Tomorrow morning is a deal."

At nine he walked into Gregg's office.

"If you think you're going to get paid . . ." bellowed Gregg.

The man grinned. "I don't want your dirty money. You're going to give me a job to earn my cash honestly. I found out what you wanted to know without dumping her. That woman is four-square, and no mistake, and—if you don't give me the lake contract I'll tell her that you figured her alleged boy friend was following your car last night. Also, that you suspected they were going on a private party after she dropped you at the club and you hired me to find out. Give, big shot—give!"

More Important Now

Mail For Armed Forces Should Carry Complete Return Address

A complete return address on all mail for the armed forces is more important than ever at the present time. The movement of members of the armed forces will increase rather than diminish with personnel changing units, returning to Canada or proceeding from Canada overseas. All these movements complicate the delivery of their mail. Under these circumstances the postal authorities urge that a complete return address be placed on all mail to ensure its prompt return if undeliverable.

• Who ever heard of a bonspiel in July? Believed to be the first ever held in Canada, such a mid-summer event is scheduled for Nelson, B.C. The spiel will last four or five days, limited to a 5-ink entry with four main events. The Nelson Civic Centre has agreed to host the Curling Club in promoting the bonspiel. Artificial ice, of course, but it should attract lots of attention.

• The Rosetown Eagle in Saskatchewan makes this comment: "The sooner transportation to the United States can be improved, the more English brides of American fighting men, the better. A shipload of English girls is worth more than their weight in diplomats in cementing the bond of friendship between the people of the United States and Great Britain."

• This is not bull: An auction sale of animals by Claude Gallinger of Tofteld, Alta., held at Edmonton, saw cattlemen from Saskatchewan, Alberta and the U.S. pay on the average $1700 each for 23 bulls, $1200 each for 11 heifers. Top price was $4300 for a yearling bull, a top heifer brought $2050.

• Aye, well spoken: John Pinder-mose of Kamloops, B.C., speaking at a Chamber of Commerce meeting at Salmon Arm, said: "There are too many umbrellas, British Columbians, Manitobians, Ontariolumbians and not enough Canadians in Canada. In the critical days to come, Canada will need all the Canadians she can get."

• Tail stories now come from Co-bourg, Ont., because the industrial relations committee of the Chamber of Commerce has helped to make H. F. Edgar, of Peterborough locate his new factory in Co-bourg. The new industry will manufacture fishing hooks, split rings, swivels and reels in the first unit of operation. It's a post-war industry, will employ 30. Such are the signs of a new life in Canada in smaller centres.

• V-E Day lines culled at random from the weekly press: There can be no question that our victory of today was divine intervention. . . . The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are astonished and managed. . . . Management and labor leaders have a difficult, critical job that requires the maximum of good sense, understanding and well-thought out policies. . . . If we can learn to live together and work together in the interests of everyone in peace as in war—years spent in danger were not in vain. . . . Meanwhile Canada has an important job in saving thousands from starvation by sending across the Atlantic all possible food supplies. . . . The expressions will vary in word and form, but the spirit of gratitude will be universal. . . . The annals of Time know no brighter day than this.

• Fine tribute: At Baras Corners, N.S., Deacon Richard Delong, at 81, finishes 50 years as Sunday school superintendent of the United Baptist church. On a recent Sunday they held a special anniversary service for the deacon, with a fine original program suitable to the occasion.

• Nova Scotians await with interest the development of the proposed Petallicidae power project. The report of the engineers is to be on tap any time now. Premier Jones has stated the cost of development might be as low as $97 per horsepower, which would make it cheapest in the world. A proposed tidal project in Great Britain is to cost $680 per horsepower.

• Bits of Canada: Announcement of the death of the first soldier from Gore's Landing, Ont., to die in World War II came ironically at the conclusion of the V-E Day church service attended by all in the village; he was Roy Thackeray, 20. . . . At Belleville, Ont., a woman walked into a hardware store and asked for a meat for the refrigerator; told it was sold, whipped out a gun and got it. . . . At Beverley, Sask., Tony Schenkey's billygoat climbed in the cab of his tractor, drank two gallons of purple gas, and passed out forever. . . . At Bowmanville, Ont., a marriage united Dorsey Cook and George Mattson. . . . Ontario again holds the spotlight. At Newmarket, two soldiers were convicted for breaking into a grocery store. One of them, minus a tooth, took a bite on a piece of cheese, later was traced through this. . . . The Alaska Highway News gleams over the story that Wynne "Scotty" Smith, who hails from Glasgow, sat down at the Pomeroy Cafe, ordered two dozen fried soft eggs and polished them off at one sitting.

Peace Garden

Memorial To A Great President And Good Neighbor

The Peace Garden seems a most suitable place for a memorial to a great president and a Good Neighbor of Canada. Situated in the Turtle Mountains of Manitoba and North Dakota, the Peace Garden is close to the geographic centre of the continent, and has been developed by citizens of both Canada and the United States. It was designed as a memorial to the long-standing friendship between the two countries and as a pledge to the continuation of the harmony which has endured for more than a century.

Certainly the International Peace Garden seems an ideal location for the building of a lasting tribute to the man who above all others contributed to the deepening and broadening of that harmony. — Winnipeg Tribune.

MEAT STRETCHING EXERCISE

One, two, three—STRETCH! It isn't the newest, reducing exercise—just the routine of a thrifty housewife planning this week's meals. For stretching budgets, without sacrificing wholesome goodness and appetite appeal in those three-times-a-week meals, is one of the basic and vital jobs of home-makers today.

An important culinary trick for stretching the budget—and making thrifty main dishes even more inspiring to the appetite—is to use crisp cereal, that familiar breakfast standby, in a wide variety of main dish specialties, as a delicious extender of protein foods.

The mild, but distinctive flavor of these crisp flakes of corn proves a perfect flavor-complement for all sorts of meats and fish—for meat and fowl leftovers too. The use of prepared cereal as an extender for meat dishes is a time-saver for busy home-makers, for corn flakes, crisp and golden brown, roll easily to crumbs of any desired fineness.

A tip for good cooks is that the simplest method of preparing crumbs for meat loaves or any cooked dish, is simply to wrap corn flakes in a clean towel, making sure that all ends of the towel are carefully tucked, and apply the rolling pin with a light hand. It is the work of seconds to produce crumbs of just the proper fineness.

Firestone

THE ONLY SYNTHETIC RUBBER TIRE

PROVED ON THE SPEEDWAY AT 100 MILES PER HOUR

CAR owners have been wondering just how safe synthetic rubber tires are—just how much mileage they will give. Firestone decided to put its tires to the supreme test. So a race car was equipped with regular, stock Firestone Synthetic Rubber Tires, the same as you can buy for your car, and raced for 500 miles around the Indianapolis Speedway under American Automobile Association supervision.

Wilbur Shaw, famous three-time winner of the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, volunteered to make the run. And he averaged 100.34 miles an hour, hitting more than 135 miles an hour on the straights! Imagine the punishment those tires took as they pounded over the rough brick and grinding asphalt—equal to 50,000 miles of ordinary driving! Yet, in this grueling, tire-torturing test, not a skid or blowout occurred.

Remember this fact when you get permission to buy new tires—Firestone are the only tires made that are safely-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

WARNING—The tire situation is more critical today than ever before, and cannot get better for many months. The only hope of keeping cars on the road is to continue to observe wartime safety limits and other similar fundamental precautions which have proved as successful in conserving tires. Your nearby Firestone Dealer will help you—see him today.

Another Election

The method used in the election of Alberta Wheat Pool delegates ordinarily provides that one-half of the total number of sub-districts shall be elected each year. Due to the fact that there has been a rearrangement of the boundaries of the sub-districts, seventy new delegates will have to be elected this year. The 35 delegates in the odd-numbered sub-districts for two year terms and the 35 in the even-numbered sub-districts for one-year terms

Nomination blanks have been forwarded to each member of the Wheat Pool together with a list of members in the sub-districts; also full instructions as to the method of nomination. Nominations must be in the Alberta Wheat Pool office, Calgary, by 5 o'clock on the afternoon of June 30th, 1945.

It is important that all Pool members should interest themselves in this matter.
Any ten members can nominate a candidate for the office of delegate.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED YOUR CHILDREN FOR FAMILY ALLOWANCES?

1,200,000 FAMILIES have already registered for Family Allowances. Approximately 100,000 families who are entitled to register and who will benefit, have not yet registered.

Family Allowances cheques will be mailed in July.

If you want to receive your first cheque, register now. If you delay your registration any longer, it may not be possible to deal with your application in time to send you the first cheque.

If you have children under 16 and if your income is under $3,000 a year, you will benefit from Family Allowances. If you have not registered, and intend to do so, please act at once! Family Allowances Registration forms have been mailed to every family. They can be obtained at the nearest post office or by writing to the Regional Director of Family Allowances in the capital of your province.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES AND INCOME TAX

When the Family Allowances Act was passed, Parliament approved the principle that there should be no duplication of benefits by way of Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for the same child.

Family Allowances cheques will be paid in full every month. But for the last six months of 1945 an adjustment will be made to avoid duplication of benefits. The table below shows the effect of this adjustment and will enable taxpayers to determine the extent to which they will benefit from Family Allowances.

TABLE SHOWING EFFECT OF ADJUSTMENT FOR 1945

AMOUNT OF TAXABLE INCOME	Percent by which taxpayers will benefit from Family Allow- ances in addition to present income tax credits, for 1945.
Over $1200 but not over 1400	100%
" 1400 " " 1600	90%
" 1600 " " 1800	80%
" 1800 " " 2000	70%
" 2000 " " 2200	60%
" 2200 " " 2400	50%
" 2400 " " 2600	40%
" 2600 " " 2800	30%
" 2800 " " 3000	20%
" 3000 " " "	10%
" 3000 " " "	0%

NOTE—This table applies to married persons and others having the status of married persons for income tax purposes. For the relatively small number of single persons supporting children and not having married status for income tax purposes, and for members of the Armed Forces, special tables can be obtained from the Regional Director of Family Allowances in each provincial capital.

The BENEFITS: The Family Allowances Act was passed to help equalize opportunities for all children.
The monthly allowances will assist in providing medical, dental and nursing services, better food, better clothing and shelter.

Family Allowances are additional to dependents' allowances for servicemen's families and military pensions.

Furthermore, Family Allowances are NOT taxable. You do not add these monthly payments to your total income when computing your income tax.

In the column at left is an explanation of the relationship between Family Allowances and Income Tax deductions for children. From the table given you can determine quickly the extent to which you will benefit.

REGISTER NOW!

If you intend to apply for Family Allowances but have not already done so, please act at once—in the interests of your children.
Remember, the first cheques will be mailed in July, but only to those who have registered and are eligible to receive Family Allowances.

SCALE OF MONTHLY ALLOWANCES FOR THE FIRST FOUR CHILDREN

For each child
Under 6	$5.00
From 6 to 9 (inclusive)	6.00
From 10 to 12 (inclusive)	7.00
From 13 to 15 (inclusive)	8.00

Where there are more than four children under 16 in the family, the monthly allowance for each child after the fourth will be reduced in accordance with the provisions of the Family Allowances Act.
